Efforts by RGNUL to create enabling milieu by way of modernizing the IPR infrastructure as well as implementing various programs for the creation of awareness among the professionals as well as general public will be a mile stone of success.

CONCEPT NOTE

In today's world, technology is changing faster than ever, and Artificial Intelligence (AI) is at the heart of this transformation. From healthcare to finance, AI is reshaping how we live and work. However, this progress also brings new challenges—especially when it comes to protecting personal data, privacy, and human rights.

As AI systems depend heavily on collecting and analyzing large amounts of data, questions arise about how that data is used, who controls it, and how it can be kept safe. Governments across the world, including India, are trying to create laws and policies to protect people's privacy while also encouraging innovation. India's Digital Personal Data Protection Act, 2023 is an important step in this direction, but there is still much work to be done to ensure that law, policy, and technology work together smoothly.

To discuss these issues, Law Mantra Trust, in academic collaboration with the Centre for Innovation and Intellectual Property Rights (CIIPR), Rajiv Gandhi National University of Law, Punjab, is organizing a Two Days International Seminar on “Data Protection in the AI Era: Bridging Gaps Between Law, Policy, and Technology.”

This seminar will bring together legal experts, policymakers, technologists, researchers, and students to share ideas and explore how we can make AI development ethical, responsible, and in line with human rights.

Objectives

The seminar seeks to:

- Understand the current laws and policies on data protection and AI in India and other countries.
- Discuss how AI affects privacy, human rights, and ethical decision-making.
- Identify gaps and challenges in implementing strong data protection measures in AI systems.
- Encourage collaboration between legal and technical communities to build safer and more transparent AI systems.
- Explore how organizations and governments can move from mere compliance to responsible and ethical innovation.
- Create awareness among students, researchers, and professionals about the importance of data privacy in the AI era.

Themes and Sub-Themes

- Data Protection and AI: Legal and Policy Developments in India and Abroad
- The Digital Personal Data Protection Act, 2023: Key Provisions and Implementation Challenges
- Privacy, Ethics, and Human Rights in AI Systems
- Algorithmic Bias, Transparency, and Accountability
