Prof. G.I.S Sandhu being felicitated by Prof. Paramjit S. Jaswal, Vice Chancellor and Prof. Nishtha Jaswal, Vice Chancellor HPNLU, Shimla

EDITORIAL

The academic session 2018-2019 witnessed superannuation of Dr. G.I.S. Sandhu, Registrar, RGNUL. Dr. Sandhu had been associated with the RGNUL, right from its inception; hand-picked by Government of Punjab to establish and steer the University in its nascent months, Dr. Sandhu, brought unmatched skill set of productivity and positivity while shaping the University. His steadfast commitment and diligence is visible in every dimension, whether it be academic or administrative, of the University. The RGNUL can not thank him enough for the countless hours spent in building this institution and in guiding the students and the staff. The University hosted a lunch at his superannuation. The entire RGNUL faculty and staff attended.

Hon'ble Mr. Justice Arjan Kumar Sikri delivered the Convocation Address. He complimented RGNUL for churning out talented lawyers who would become pillars of Indian Judiciary in the future. He eulogised the bond and co-operation extended by various NLUs for promoting academic excellence. Justice Sikri congratulated the students on their achievements. He shared his experiences and advised the students to have a vision and mission for the realization of their dreams. He talked about the three phases of evolution of lawyers. Firstly, the students should work honestly. Secondly "Just as different countries are in different time-zones, people are governed by different timings for success and recognition," and thirdly. "In a knowledge-based economy, students must remain a learner throughout their lives," he added. He reminded the students of 'inherent knowledge in man', as explained by Swami Vivekananda. Justice Sikri also quoted Paulo Coelho, Nani Palkhivala, Max Muller and Arnold Toynbee in his address. He shared observations of Palkhivala on education with the students. "Education performs the function of enlightening the understanding and enriching the character," he added. "In a world of declining public/private morality and intolerance, lawyers have a vital role to play," remarked Justice Sikri. He also advised the students to maintain a work-life balance, to give time to family, to respect parents and teachers and to inculcate good habits. He exhorted them to tap their potentialities, develop the ability to think clearly and to become instruments of change in the society.
