EDITORIAL

Since its establishment RGNUL is moving ahead with each passing year. The commitment to the idea of excelling in academics and research is the propelling force behind all that is achieved. The academic session 2010-11 saw a plethora of activities and achievements to RGNUL's credit. The year began with prize distribution function for ENSAYO 2010 National Essay Writing Competition; followed by Panel Discussion on the topic 'Gandhi Revisited' exploring the relevance of Gandhi's ideology in contemporary India; the first National Parliamentary Debate Competition Agahi'10 gave the student community the adrenaline rush and also tested their ability, to organize and plan a national event, a two day Multidisciplinary Congress on Political Science and Global Governance was organized to explore the contrasts and affinities of the discipline vis-à-vis other disciplines; followed by the Annual Function in April, a platform awarding all the merit holders and framing the aesthetic aspirations of the students through the cultural show.

Yet another significant milestone was covered with the publication of RGNUL Law Review (RLR), research journal. Its inaugural issue was released by Hon'ble Mr. Justice Ranjan Gogoi, Chief Justice Punjab and Haryana High Court and Chancellor RGNUL. It is a step towards promoting high quality research and to establish itself as a centre a learning and knowledge. The RGNUL is moving in the direction of its aim to grow and nurture community of academicians who would contribute substantially to society.

Bar Council of India Regulations, 2008 have clearly mentioned that all integrated Law Courses shall have to teach as Minor / Major subjects of Social Sciences and a foreign language as well to strengthen the B.A. Component of the course. RGNUL shall be the first National Law University to undertake the change from the next academic session. Further on, two new specialization streams shall be offered to the students of fourth and fifth year: International Law and Constitutional Law. It will open newer avenues for students both in further studies and employment.

The first batch (2006), of the students will be passing out at the end of this academic session. In these five years keeping in view the paradigm shift in the field of legal education the RGNUL strove in earnest to provide these students with more practical and pragmatic learning environment. The competence, legal acumen and diligence of these students has been acknowledged and awarded at various national and international competitions.
