2 X 5=10 Marks

Contd.....P.2

SECTION - B

2. Even though investigation is the foundation of the Criminal Justice System it is unfortunate that it is not trusted by the laws and the courts. The police perceive themselves psychologically and morally bound to do everything possible to curb crime and investigate the cases successfully to meet the peoples' expectations. In this process the police often resort to short cut methods and exhibit negative traits of police sub-culture, namely, rudeness, use of third degree methods, defensiveness in face of criticism etc. In the light of the above statement elaborate the powers and responsibilities of the police in the Criminal Justice Administration.
3. An accused when brought before the court of any category does not cease to be a citizen of this country despite the fact that he has been charge sheeted of an offence, hence under the Constitution , even an accused does not become noncitizen on the mere fact that he has been arrested, charge sheeted or incarcerated by the authority. Being a citizen of this free country, the accused is entitled to all those entitlements that any free citizen is entitled except those curtailment that had been restricted by virtue of his arrest according to the law of this land. Discuss the Constitutional privileges to the accused and to what extent does the constitutional privilege against self-incrimination afford protection to accused persons?
